

“Like Before”

Woke up this morning with a heavy heart.

No one took your part. Never been apart.

I Had the whole world in my hand.

Heard your voice. You're my choice. All rejoice.

From the morning sun, we did everything as one.

Used to share. Used to care. Always there.

Want to smile like before. Want to laugh like before.

Want to have your heart once more.

Be my keys to unlock doors.

Understand that's what this song is for.

Want to talk like before. Want to dream like before.

I don't want pain anymore.

Life's not about keeping score.

Understand that's what these words are for. Remember this song.

I hope you hear this loud and strong.

not just what is right or wrong.

Want you to hear this song. These words are for. Sing like before.

Want to share like before. Want to care like before.

I don't want you to be gone.

My eyes looking at the floor.

Understand that's what this song is for

To have thoughts like before. Want to dream like before.

Want to have your heart once more.

Be my keys to unlock doors.

Understand that's what these words are for.

To be like before.
