

“Days of COVID”

Is noon. already want to see the moon.

Do you care? that it has been four long years

Many tears that we have shed with no one to share.

We pretend that we don't need any close friends.

I know that this world can sometimes be cruel.

In the end we just need to all be there

Wash Away the loneliness, greed, selfishness, and pain.

So much have changed from the days of COVID.

Chorus

Almost May. Sky is gray. is your mind still far away?

So much fear to be scared gasping for more air.

4)What we have learn? 4) So much have changed 4) from the days of 2) COVID

So much rain. Sky's still gray. Today should be our D-day.

Find our way for better days. Not to run away.

By each other side and on each other's mind

To that we should swear

I know that this world can sometimes be cruel.
In the end we just need to all be there
Understand so many have lost families and friends.
So much have changed from the days of COVID.

Chorus

Almost May. Sky's still gray. is your mind still far away?
So much fear to be scared gasping for more air.
We have to learn from all that have change from the days of COVID.

So much rain. Sky's still gray. Today should be our D-day.
Find our way for better days. Not to run away.
To Always Care and To Always just Share
To that we should Swear.
The Days of COVID
