

Belong

In Hong Kong, I remembered this storm Thinking if I belong.

Felt this way since the day I was born.

Always had a smile on my face but no one saw my pain.

Lived this life like I am tricking my brain.

I was scared to do things wrong. Never felt like I belong.

Saw myself with many flaws.

But then you came along

My days no longer feel wrong.

From that special day you were born, you gave me reasons to be strong.

Want to surround you with love.

Unlike me you will feel belong

Hope you will remember this song when I am long gone.

Remember our long talks and walks.

Life lesson per day.

As your dad, I did so many things wrong.

Yet happy that we get along.

so, you can tell me what is wrong.

Glad, we can always write a song.

Talk to me when your days are long.

Now, is the time for you to be strong.

With The foundation you have now. You can weather any storm.

Realize life will go so fast.

Know sad things will never last.

Is always important for you to learn from your past.

To always remember our talks and walks.

that life will go so fast.

There will always be this song.

and hope these words will stay with you.

Be proud of who you are because I have faith in everything you do.

Realize life will go so fast.

Always know sad things will never last.

I hope you will remember this song when I am long gone.

Always Belong