

“Suddenly”

Was so lost in time

Don't want roads to climb

Look into your eyes – that just want to help me

You are so kind

Now my pain is behind

You are the reason that I am standing now

You saw the tears in my eyes when I have nothing to give

Then Suddenly you smile right at me

Maybe you can't understand but when you gave me your time

My life was changed, now I am back from my climb

I'm willing to be the one

and everyone that you love

with open arms

I will always be there

You must believe

that you and me

You can call it destiny

Sometimes Love happens Suddenly

There's beauty up above Many things we take granted of I want to be that love that you seek

Maybe you can't understand but when you gave me your time
My life was changed, Now I am back from my climb

I'm willing to
be the one
with open arms
I will always be there
You must believe
That you and me
You can call it destiny
Sometimes Love happens Suddenly.

I want to be, will always be The person that you seek with all my love that happened Suddenly

You must believe
That you and me
Will end up cause of destiny this love that happened Suddenly

I'm willing to
be the one
You must believe
That you and me
Sometimes Love happens Suddenly.

Sometimes Love happens Suddenly.
